-I am special-

On Sunday night, we heard from Sara. Sara gave us the message about being special in our own unique way. She told us how when she was younger, she would go from wearing her split-pea soup colored sweater, to skinny jeans and a limited too shirt. Body image was a huge learning and turning point in her adolescence that didn't present itself until she was older. Sara thought that if she could dress like the "popular" people, they might like her and then it would make her happier.

It didn't exactly work out the way she imagined. Sara didn't get any happier when she dressed like the popular kids. Eventually, later in high school she met a group of friends who liked her for who she was and she didn't have to dress any certain way or act a certain way around them.

Sara shared with us that God made each one of you so special. He loved every one of you so much that he will never leave you, ever. Each one of you was made exactly how you are supposed to be.

"when I found friends that loved and accepted me; that was the best thing ever".

I'm free to be me, and I'm gonna be, the best me that I can be
